1. PRESENTATION

Literacy is considered as the lifelong ability of making and sharing meaning through oral and written texts. Having this in mind, it seems essential that children learning English as a foreign language develop literacy skills in a text-rich environment which works hand in hand with both imagination and creativity. To do so, teacher trainees should be acquainted with Children's literature as well as with the wide range of models, strategies, techniques and resources that may be applied to their everyday practice with children aged 6 to 12.

This subject aims to make students go further with their knowledge on literacy, acquired in the subjects Foreign Language I and II, exploring Children's Literature from a practical point of view. Also, it will be working on their communicative and thinking skills in an integrated way, as the Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) approach will be used.

La literacidad es considerada como una habilidad de desarrollo permanente centrada en crear y compartir significado a través de textos orales y escritos. Teniendo esto en cuenta, resulta esencial que los niños y niñas que aprenden el idioma inglés como lengua extranjera desarrollen sus destrezas lectoescritoras en un ambiente donde los textos sean los protagonistas a la vez que se trabaja con la imaginación y la creatividad. Para que esto sea así, los estudiantes del grado de Magisterio tienen que familiarizarse con la literatura infantil así como con los modelos, estrategias, técnicas y recursos que se pueden aplicar en la práctica docente diaria con niños de 6 a 12 años.

Esta asignatura tiene como objetivo hacer que los estudiantes vayan más allá en su conocimiento de lo que es la literacidad/lectoescritura/alfabetización, tal y como ha sido cubierta en las asignaturas de Lengua Extranjera I y II, explorando así la literatura infantil desde un punto de vista eminentemente práctico. Además, se trabajará de manera integrada en las habilidades comunicativas y de pensamiento crítico, ya que el enfoque CLIL se empleará en el aula.

4. TEACHING-LEARNING METHODOLOGY. FORMATIVE ACTIVITIES

The teaching-learning methodology will be based on the methodological approach CLIL (Content and Language Integrated Learning). Therefore, it will be active and dynamic, having as its main aim to help students have a reflective and critical mind regarding the use of literature in the classroom. Also, a communicative atmosphere will be fostered involving students actively in high-order thinking processes. Students are expected to improve their teaching knowledge, skills and attitudes towards literacy development through the use of literature in the Primary Classroom. Also, students will be improving their competence in the English language as well as reflecting on this progress, enabling them to transfer their learning experience to their teaching practice.

Students will be grouped using three different modalities: whole-group, half-group and seminar. This does not mean, however, that whole-group sessions will be entirely devoted to cover theoretical areas. The distribution of students does not indicate a specific methodology or content.

Apart from the above detailed 48 hours of lesson attendance, the student must also complete 102 hours of independent work at home, which will include finishing activities from class, preparing presentations, reading articles, doing some research, organising information, and revising the subject contents. They could also attend tutorial hours to have their doubts and questions answered by the teacher.

4.2. Methodological strategies, materials and didactic resources

Methodological strategies will be based on the CLIL approach (Content and Language Integrated Learning), thus working on Cognition, Communication, Content and Culture. Students are expected to develop a critical awareness of literacy development through the use of literature in the Primary Classroom. Also, they are expected to use and improve their Communicative skills in the English language, and to be able to promote them when working with Primary students in the English classroom. Apart from this, students are expected to acquire a basic knowledge on the history of Children's Literature in English, becoming acquainted with those works which have a higher potential to ensure learning in the Primary classroom. Finally, students will be asked to show and develop a cultural awareness when selecting and using literature in the classroom, and to be able to promote it at Primary Education levels.

Throughout this subject, the lecturer will act as an instructor as well as a facilitator. Students will handle a variety of materials, which will be available on our Virtual Community <http://edu.cardenalcisneros.es>

Students will often use monolingual, bilingual and collocation dictionaries. They are advised to buy a monolingual dictionary (either in paper or an electronic one).

Teaching methods will encompass didactic projects, problem-solving activities and cooperative learning. When possible, students will be offered with the chance of planning lessons to be implemented with groups of children coming from different schools in the neighbourhood, thus meeting their needs and contributing to the educational community in a service-learning basis. Also, this subject includes critical reading and analysis through dialogic talks, an instructional strategy favouring dialogue in the classroom. Collaboration with international partners will be pursued to foster intercultural awareness. Organisational modes will involve more theoretical classes guided by lectures, practical sessions, seminars and autonomous work (102 hours).

5. ASSESSMENT

Report Criteria

Although attendance will not be marked, students who are unable to attend 80% of the classes and/or submit works within the submission deadline set should choose final assessment. If students submit one or more assignments in the continuous assessment evaluation, they cannot opt for the final assessment, even if this happens during the first two weeks.

The final assessment will be articulated according to the current legislation established by the University of Alcalá. These regulations establish, among others, the following criteria:

- This subject has an ordinary exam in January/February, and an extraordinary exam in June.
- If a student cannot follow the continuous assessment proposed for the ordinary exam, he/she should ask for a final assessment exam to the lecturer in charge of the subject during the two first term weeks. This proposal will be approved or rejected by the Head Department.
- The extraordinary exam is set for those students who have not passed the ordinary exam, (either ordinary or final)
- The characteristics of the continuous and final assessment are explained in this study guide.
- To access more information on the assessment regulations, you should visit the UAH <https://www.uah.es/export/shared/es/conoce-la-uah/organizacion-y-gobierno/.galleries/Secretaria-General/Normativa-Evaluacion-Aprendizajes.pdf>

- During all assessment tasks, the guidelines established in the University of Alcalá Coexistence Regulations must be followed, as well as the possible implications of irregularities committed during those tasks, including the consequences for committing academic fraud, according to the Disciplinary Regulations for Students of the University of Alcalá.

To pass the course is essential for the student to have reached all the competences contained in this guide through the various instruments provided for measurement.

All assignments must be passed with a minimum grade of 5 to be able to pass the subject. Late submissions without a prior informed and appropriately justified reason will not be accepted, and will result on failing the assignment and so, the subject.

The student must perform all assessment tasks set out in this guide as a requirement to pass the subject both in the continuous or final evaluation process in the first or resit assessment processes.

Each of the assessment tasks in this subject is linked to the attainment of linguistic and communicative goals in the foreign language (English) which correspond to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages descriptors (B2+). If the attainment of these goals is not demonstrated, the assessment task will be considered not to have been passed.

Continuous and Final assessment – first call (ordinary and extraordinary)

All students will be asked to complete a literature project and a reflection log as well as to prepare and deliver several oral presentations. Students whose request for final assessment has been approved should complete these assignments by using digital tools the lecturer will indicate. They will also be required to record videos to supply for their impossibility to carry out oral presentations in class.

Regarding the extraordinary exam for this subject, the lecturer will take into account those assignments marked with a passing grade in the first call, and will indicate the students which assessment tools and competences need to be worked and how.
