1. PRESENTATION

One of the most common problems in any learning situation is to establish good communication. This is especially important when we are using a second or foreign language. Teachers are expected to manage appropriate language which can foster the use of high-order thinking skills in the classroom and, at the same time, can promote effective communication both in written and oral form.

This subject tries to develop students' cognitive academic language proficiency by working on their productive skills. To do so they will become familiar with a range of strategies and techniques and will also be trained to build up their self-confidence as well as to show appropriate attitudes in different contexts, such as tolerance, cooperation and empathy, among others. Regarding the level of English students will acquire, they will be asked to work at a B1+ Level (Common European Framework of Reference)¹

Pre- requisites and Recommendations

4. TEACHING-LEARNING METHODOLOGY. FORMATIVE ACTIVITIES

The teaching-learning methodology will be active and dynamic through a communicative atmosphere and actively involving students in high-order thinking processes. Students will improve their competence in the English language as well as reflect on this progress—which should enable them to transfer their learning experience to their teaching practice.

Face-to-face sessions will be oriented towards the whole-group through practical lessons. This does not mean, however, that whole-group sessions will be entirely devoted to cover theoretical areas. The distribution of students does not indicate a specific methodology or content. Personal tutorials hours are also considered and should be scheduled with the professor.

1. Whole-group sessions will be carried out by using activities such as communication-based work (pair or group discussions), information searching, question answering based on different texts, and others, all aimed at consolidating the theoretical contents, and applying them to a practical context. Debates and oral presentations may also be carried out during this time. The work here will mainly be done individually and in small- to medium-sized groups.
2. Practical lessons will consist of activities such as problem solving, analysis of documents or other materials, practical workshops and oral activities, such as presentations or simulations. During these sessions the work will be done individually, in pairs and small- to medium-sized groups.
3. Personal tutorials: aimed at ensuring a more personalised attention to students.

Apart from the above possibility of 15 hours of lesson attendance, the student must also complete up to 150 hours of independent work at home, which will include activities, preparing presentations, reading articles, doing some research, organizing information, and revising the subject contents. They could also attend tutorial hours to have their doubts and questions answered by the teacher.

4.1. ECTS distribution

Total number of hours (6 ECTS): 150
Number of hours of classroom attendance: Up to 15hours	Whole-group lessons
	Personal tutorials with professor
Number of hours of independent learning: 150 hours	Up to 150 hours of self-study.

4.2. Methodological strategies, materials and didactic resources

Methodological strategies will be based on the CLIL approach (Content and Language Integrated Learning) working on Cognition, Communication, Content and Culture. Due to the linguistic nature of this subject, Communication will be at the heart of the contents, which will be learnt by students through the use of problem-solving activities, cooperative learning and analysis and evaluation of case studies. In all these cases, the teacher will act as a learning facilitator.

Students will handle a variety of materials, which will be available on our Virtual Community <http://edu.cardenalcisneros.es> We will also handle internet resources to have access to videos related to different topics. If possible, contact with experts will be also encouraged.

5. ASSESSMENT

*Each of the assessment tasks in this subject is linked to the attainment of linguistic and communicative goals in the foreign language (English) which correspond to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages descriptors (B2+). If the attainment of these goals is not demonstrated, the assessment task will be considered not to have been passed

In the following tables you can find the specific competences the subject deals with, the assessment criteria set and the appraisal criteria the teacher will apply to measure these outcomes and, finally, the assessment system, divided into the tools which will be used. This table may serve as a guideline to know how the competences will be assessed.

Report Criteria

Although attendance will not be marked, students who are unable to attend more than 5% and/or submit works within the submission deadline set should choose final assessment. If students submit more than 2 assignments in the continuous assessment evaluation, they cannot opt for the final assessment, even if this happens during the first two weeks. It is necessary to demonstrate acquisition of all of the competences included in this subject and obtain a minimum grade of 5.0A in each of the assessment tasks.

Final assessment will be articulated according to the current legislation established by the University of Alcalá. These regulations establish, among others, the following criteria:

- This subject has an ordinary exam in May, and an extraordinary exam in June.
- If a student cannot follow the continuous assessment proposed for the ordinary exam in May, he/she should ask for a final assessment exam to the lecturer in charge of the subject during the two first class weeks. This proposal will be approved or rejected by the Head Department.
- Extraordinary exam is set for those students who have not passed the ordinary exam, (either ordinary or final)
- The characteristics for the continuous and final assessment are explained in this study guide.

- To access more information on the assessment regulations, you should visit:
http://www.uah.es/universidad/estatutos_normativa/documentos/otros/NormalEvaluacionAprendizajes.pdf

During all assessment tasks, the guidelines established in the University of Alcalá Coexistence Regulations must be followed, as well as the possible implications of irregularities committed during those tasks, including the consequences for committing academic fraud, according to the Disciplinary Regulations for Students of the University of Alcalá.
